7. COLLEGE REDESIGN VIRTUAL TOWN HALL

Dr. Lofman thanked Cheryl, presenters and others for their work in preparing for and during the College Redesign Town Hall Forum held on Monday, November 15; it was a team effort and much appreciated. He shared that the focus of the forum was to share how the College is progressively moving toward being a student-centered institution and that the key members provided a snippet of top level information of what we are moving away from, what we are moving towards, and desired impact on the student experience and student outcomes. He recalled the College formed and implemented six inquiry and design teams, and since then other college redesign ideas were created. He stated that now is the time to start sharing the full gamut of this work and he asked how does the College coordinate all of this work, document progress, and move student-centered discussions front and center through the participatory governance process to ensure the college redesigns are embedded across the institution.

8. GUIDED PATHWAYS, EQUITY, AND STUDENT SUCCESS TEAM

Dr. Lofman projected Guided Pathways and Equity Structural and Cultural Change Typology

(Continuous Learning Institute), a simple tool he came across that it speaks to why colleges find it difficult to embed and implement guided pathways and equity across the institution. After reviewing the tool, he moved the discussion to the draft document, Student Success Teams at Hartnell College. He highlighted some of the key areas of the document, and a discussion ensued about College Redesign.

9. GOVERNANCE REDESIGN TASKFORCE
